

Today, the activities of the World Day for the Prevention of Pressure Ulcers were held at Medical Specialist Hospital in the conference hall. The activities began with the skin and wound care team (Ms. Fatima Shafiq, Ms. Fatima Sobhi - M. Nesma Al Arabi) providing health education to patients attending out patient clinics in all specialties, their families and companions. Patients in the inpatient wards learn how to prevent bedsores and how to care for them when they occur. Then scientific part for the medical staff. Our Hospital is the only hospital in Mansoura University Hospitals that has a specialized nursing team for skin and wound care since 2022, which has contributed to reducing the incidence of pressure ulcers to much less than all global statistics. It is also the only hospital that celebrates World Prevention Day for the 2nd year.
