

Subject: Submission for Stop Pressure Ulcer Day 2025 – Clinical Education & Protocol Initiative

Dear EPUAP Committee,

On behalf of the Wound Care Clinic of Karaj, we are honored to submit our report for the 2025 Stop Pressure Ulcer Day campaign. Our clinic organized a specialized professional seminar titled "Advancing Prevention: Integrating 2025 Protocols into Practice."

The event brought together our core clinical team. The session was dedicated to a deep dive into the latest 2025 pressure injury prevention algorithms and emerging international guidelines. We facilitated a collaborative analysis of novel repositioning frameworks, advanced risk-assessment tools, and innovations in therapeutic support surfaces. This theoretical review was reinforced with practical demonstrations on skin assessment and preventive dressing application.

The primary objective was to directly translate cutting-edge evidence into our daily clinical workflow, fostering a culture of excellence and proactive prevention. The seminar served as a platform for rigorous interdisciplinary discussion, ensuring our entire team's preparedness to implement contemporary best practices.

We believe that empowering healthcare professionals with the most current knowledge is fundamental to improving patient outcomes. This initiative reflects our commitment to elevating care standards and contributing to the global mission of pressure ulcer prevention.

Respectfully submitted by the Wound Care Clinic of Karaj Team:

- Mr. Javad Ghorbani
Wound Care Nurse Specialist
- Mr. Raman Lotfi
Wound Care Nurse Specialist
- Miss. Kimia Soltaniha
Wound Care Nurse
- Dr. Alireza Soleimani
Infectious Disease Specialist
- Mrs. Shabnam Faraji
Wound Care Nurse Specialist

